ATLANTA.

The Renowned Breaking of the Georgia Railroad Lease—Railroads in South Carolina—Preparation for a Heavy Fight—The State of the Freight Train Ever Known—Etc.

Conductor B. F. Reed, of the Atlanta division of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, has resigned.

There will be a Methodist camp meeting at Salt Springs, next Sunday. The Georgia Pacific will give a reasonable round trip rate.

Mr. A. J. Orme will continue to act as general freight and passenger agent of the Atlantic and West Point railroad, until Mr. Orme is ready to enter upon the duties of the position.

The quickest freight train ever known from New Orleans to Atlanta was made by the Georgia Pacific last week. The trip was made in a running time thirty-four hours and forty-five minutes. The Georgia Pacific will keep up this schedule during the busy season.

It is rumored that the Western and Atlantic people will make a movement designed to take further cut off of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia line.

the use of the side tracks in the city. This is carried out, and the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia is barred from using the side tracks of our large manufacturing, considerable inconvenience will be the result.

A Rumor.

It was rumored—among railroad men and merchants, yesterday, that the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad had withdrawn from the pool, or the Southern Railway and Merchandise association.

A prominent business man remarked to the reporter:

"There is no doubt of it. Mr. Fink, the president of the road, has written a letter to the board of directors of the Southern Railway company, to the effect:

"What effect will this have?"

"Well, I don't know. I don't look for any cutting of rates or for the breaking up of the pool."

The reporter then saw Mr. R. F. Powers of the Southern Railway and Steamship association, and called his attention to the rumor. "There is nothing in it," said Mr. Powers, "nothing at all. The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia may withdraw from the Micon all Atlanta cotton pools. It is probable that some talk of that contingency started the rumor."

Other railroad men were seen, but all expressed the opinion that Mr. Fink would not withdraw from the pool at present.

The Georgia Railroad Lease

The Chronicle says:

A prominent stockholder told the Chronicle yesterday that the only move he had ever heard of looking to a test of the lease in the courts, was made in New York some time ago; but this, it was

The agitation in Augusta over the matters sprung it is understood, from certain discrimination which were believed to have been made again the city, and which some of the mercantile thought, came from the consolidated management of the system. understood was purely a speculative movement with the evident intention of bearing the market down. It was understood, from certain discrimination which were believed to have been made again the city, and from the fact that the merchant stockholders were not to be consulted in the management of the system. The question of contesting the lease was at the time considered, and a prompt action was contemplated, but the question was not then agitated further.

A stockholder yesterday stated to the Chronicle that if ever there was any determined effort to break up the city, it was now being made. The stockholders, who might wait at some time to reclaim so valuable a piece of property for their own profit, he did not contemplate any such course. He said that he had no doubt that they had defeated any serious or successful effort from

The News has the following:

Major Cumming was out of the city, and this level view had to be postponed until his return, but at the Georgia railroad bank President Charles H. Phinizy was found, and he said there was no truth at all in the matter, at least that nothing whatever of the kind had reached him or the other authorities of the road. He affirmed that Goodrich, replying to the information about the Georgia road not being able to earn the rental, stated that for the past 180 days of the lease the earnings had netted $12,500 over the rental. The surplus for the first year was about $19,000, and the deficit for last year only $3,000, and this was caused by the arbitrary and a adopted by the railroad commissioners at a recent trains shall not exceed the rate allowed by or for freight trains, with 50 per cent added thereon except where the classification is less than its class, when 50 per cent advance on the rate allowed for first-class freight may be charged, and no railroad company shall, by reason of any contract with any express or other company, decline or refuse to transport any article proper for transportation on the train for which it is offered."

The statement of the July earnings will be ready for some weeks. During the month of July a great deal of business was done on some of the lines, and a very little on others. The travel on the South Carolina railway at the Columbia and Greenville road was live. Many paying excursion trains have been running during the past month.

An effort will be made, it is thought, at the next session of the legislature, to do away with the railroad commission, but there is no reason to believe it will succeed.

H. R. BERNARD, Superintendent.
 J. E. CREE SLAUGHTER, G. P. A.

The convention was called to order exactly 12 o'clock by Mr. J. H. Estill, chairman of the state executive committee, who announced that the first business in order was the nomination of a temporary chairman.

Mr. Ray of Coweta, seconded by Mr. Rye of Worth, moved that Mr. Walter G. Clinton of Chatham. Mr. Charlton was chosen unanimously, and was escorted to the chair by Messrs. Ray, of Coweta, Bush, of McIntosh and Lawton, of Chatham.

On assuming the chair, Mr. Charlton said:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I thank you for the honor that you have conferred upon me in my being chosen to occupy so much the perfunctory position of myself as the generous assistance of the devoted and patriotic friends of Georgia have rendered to the cause of that which has been the exponent of her principles and her honor. I appreciate the confidence you have done me the honor to make me your host, and I assure you that I will do my best to make you have testified to the fact that I am not a man of much wealth there are no sections, but gratuitous, I am both, gentlemen, to permit from the duties which are before you. Derogating to congratulate you on the fact that you will be instrumental to the democracy of America has assembled in front of the Congress of the United States as human foresight can predict, be characterized by that has been and discretion on the influence of the members demand, and which the cause constitutional liberty demands, and with the I wish to say that the cause of the people to-day we will be inspired and guided by the principles which are the basis of our party even in defeat. I invite you consideration of the labors before you. For business as this temple of democracy is about to be formally before us I now declare the convocation open. Applaud.

Mr. Harris, of North, nominated Mr. Mark A. Hardin, H. H. Cabaniss and John Campbell as temporary secretaries. They were unanimously elected. Then, Mr. J. M. Jemison, of Ibbel, the rules of the last year's convention were read, and the names of representatives were adopted for the that the next business in order was the choice of a permanent chairman. Mr. Dr. Richmond, said.

I desire, Mr. Chairman, briefly to present to the consideration of this convention for its permanent officers the name of a distinguished and illustrious great and noble man, a man who has won power and peace and fame; who every generation of life has declared the illustrious name of him who has been the foundation of those who knew him and in vindication of those he served; a man who has been a confession, successful in his practice, and as a consolation of the south and his southern brethren, the smiling of the world, the safety and the risk of his life.

He was calm, conservative and earnest, in the service of measures, and in the service of the people, equally as firm in his opposition to those who were not supported.

He was not a man who would have been a general assembly so conducting himself as to the applause of listening senators, and to the criticism of the press.

He was a man who had done good and faithful service. I present

On motion of Mr. Bigham, of Troop secretary called the roll of counties for presentation of the delegates. There were no contested delegations, and the roll was soon complete. Mr. DuFree, of Mr. in seconding the nomination of Mr. Po said:

Mr. Chairman: In the name of the young oracy of Georgia, I rise to second the nomination of my friend, the Hon. J. H. Pollitt, of Jefferson.

The election of Mr. Pollitt was unanimous. The chair appointed Messrs. Davis, of Richmond, McNeill of Muscogee and DuFree of Macon to escort Mr. Pollitt to the chair.

On taking the chair Mr. Pollitt said—

Gentlemen of the Convention: Recognizing the inspiring grandeur of this occasion, I thank you. And gentlemen, I congratulate numbers of years, and it is being continued by the present government, and at this time a transition party is in power. I am not characterizing it here today, as evidenced by the fact that there is no one in the executive office that you are to elect. Now, gentlemen of the convention, let the counties be earnest and diligent in selecting good men to represent you in the general assembly and to maintain that good state government. [Applause.]

Then in November let the democracy of the state file up the nominating card for the best tickets larger than nominating card for a president before, praying and trusting that the voters wishing that the best men be elected to the departments at Washington, and honest return to honest state citizenship and honest government will put up the best tickets combined with Georgia's to elect Cleveland and friends. [Applause.]

Amp, gentlemen of the convention, thank you for your kindness, I declare the convention now adjourns. We are to transact business as will properly come before it. It is

The temporary secretaries were elected by ballot on motion of Mr. Sims.

Mr. T. W. Latham, of Campbell, offered the following resolutions:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention representing the democratic citizens of Georgia that since his accession to the executive chair of administration of Hon. Henry D. McDaniel, he has been able, faithful, energetic, patriotic, just, and is hereby approved by this convention.

Applause.

Resolved further, That we do hereby place before our fellow-citizens the name of Hon. D. McDaniel as the democratic candidate for governor of Georgia for the ensuing term, and cordially commend him to the support of the people for that position.

Resolved further, That he be hereby nominated by acclamation.

On motion of Mr. Harris, of Worth, the resolutions were adopted with cheers.

pointment of a committee to prepare an order of business. Mr. Harris, of Worth, said: "I propose that we have a standing order or by resolution (laughter.) Now the order of business is to notify him of our action and request his acceptance either in person or by letter."

On motion of Mr. Sweat, of Clinch, a committee for nominations was appointed.

Mr. Thomas, of Walton, said:

Mr. Chairman, it is my pleasure to put in nomination for the office of secretary of state, the Hon. N. C. Barnett, of Walton county. I said that I have him. I do not believe in putting in names as a general rule, but I do so in this case, however, but this is an exception to the general rule. It gives me pleasure to put him in nomination as I do so every year. (Applause.)

Mr. Bush, of Miller, moved that Colonel Barnett be nominated by a rising vote as a sign of respect to an old and tried friend of the cause. The entire convention rose to its feet and Colonel Barnett was declared nominated secretary of state. [Applause.]

The nomination of a controller-general was then in order.

Mr. Wright, of Richmond, said:
